Headlee Restoration Millage Election

The Ballot Issues
Years ago Allegan County voters authorized millage levels to fund Allegan Area Educational Service Agency. Since then, these millages have been reduced by what is commonly referred to as the Headlee Amendment. Restoration to the original millage levels that were set by voters would have a positive impact on the education of all students in Allegan County.

PROPOSAL I: OPERATING MILLAGE
• Provides math, science, and literacy consultants to local school districts
• Would restore 0.0262 mill back to the original 0.14 mills
• Would generate $81,244 per year if approved

PROPOSAL II: SPECIAL EDUCATION
• Funds special education services for all local districts
• Would restore 0.0448 mill back to the original 3.05 mills
• Would generate $138,992 per year if approved

PROPOSAL III: CAREER AND TECHNICAL EDUCATION
• Funds the Allegan County Area Technical & Education Center
• Would restore 0.0262 mill back to the original 1.78 mills
• Would generate $81,244 per year if approved

What does this mean to the local districts?
AAESA provides each of our eight local school districts with quality education, programming and support. Passage of these millages will generate over $301,000 to positively impact the over 14,000 students in Allegan County.
